Observations... From Around Town

(BY JAY WHOZIT)

The newly elected city commissioner, J. Cyril Glover, took the oath of office last Friday morning, amid appropriate ceremonies at the City Hall. . . . the first official act of the new commission council was to repeal the tax on slot machines, put into effect some months ago. . . . what will be their next move in connection with these gambling devices remains to be seen. . . . at this meeting Dan M. Russell, Jr., was appointed City attorney, and F. E. "Bill" Witter, gas division superintendent. . . . the recently organized community concert band and orchestra are making great strides, holding regular practice sessions under the direction of Mr. George Wimberly. . . . Erle Johnston, of the Scott County Times, Forest, Miss., was elected president of the Mississippi Press Association at its convention in Biloxi, last weekend. . . . the manufacture of silk for commercial use, now in the experimental stage by Mr. Bell, of Kiln, could, with a little encouragement, become a major industry in this locality, as did the Tung nut experiment of a few years ago, which has now grown into an industry bringing hundreds of thousands of dollars to this section annually. . . . Walter J. Gex has been appointed a member of the Mississippi Seafood Commission, succeeding Harold B. Weston, resigned. . . . this Sunday, June 19th is Father's Day, so don't forget to do something nice for Dad on this occasion, because after all he really deserves a little attention at least one day of the year. . . . to the city officials: garbage can get pretty smelly during this hot weather, so don't you think it would be a good thing to collect it three times a week instead of two as at present? . . . it would help to keep our city more sanitary and cleaner and encourage our citizens to keep their own property cleaner. . . . it seems that the health department of the city of New Orleans is again waging war on out of state creameries sending raw milk into the city, claiming that it does not come up to Grade A classification upon reaching the city from outside sources. . . . the K. C. initiation of last Sunday was a grand success, with more than seventy-five new members being received into the order. . . . leading the parade of members and candidates was the traditional K. C. goat.

REA Gets 'Go Sign' On Plans For More Lines, Headquarters Structure

Plans to build 100 miles of additional line were approved last week by the National Rural Electrification Administration, H. H. Shattuck, manager of the Coast Electric Power Association, said Saturday.

Shattuck has recently returned from Washington where he sought to hasten approval of the plan to build the new lines which will serve some 175 rural residents in Hancock, Harrison, and Pearl River counties.

BID DATE SET

While in Washington, he also reviewed with the architectural division of R. E. A. plans for a headquarters office building and "took preliminary steps towards securing an allocation to construct this building, to make possible additional line constructions to serve some 200 more applicants, make certain system improvements, and purchase two-way radio communications equipment."

"I was successful, before leaving Washington, in securing plans and specifications for approximately 100 miles of line, and since I've returned we have, with our engineers, set the date of July 13 to open bids for construction contracts of these lines," he said. After the local board considers and selects bids they must be forwarded to the Washington office for review and final approval.

"I don't anticipate any delay," Shattuck asserted. "Construction should start in early August, and will be completed in 90 days," he added.

HEADQUARTERS APPROVED

Preliminary plans for the headquarters building were approved by the federal headquarters of R. E. A. and the Biggs, Weir, Chandler firm of architectural consultants in Jackson. Shattuck said. The new structure will be built on the lot recently purchased by the Coast Electric Power Association, at the corner of Main St. and Highway 90.

On completing his business in Washington, Shattuck proceeded to Chicago to attend in the interest of all R. E. A. financed cooperatives, a meeting of the National Committee for Utilities Radio.

At this meeting, June 6, he stated the needs of the R. E. A. Co-ops in the way of communications equipment and pointed out the difference between these needs and those of other utilities seeking frequency allocations from the Federal Communications Commission.

NEW LINES COMPLETED

June 7 saw energization of all the portion of lines put up under contract with the Neely Bros. Construction Co. This comprised construction of 124 miles of line to serve some 300 additional rural homes in the three-county area served by the Co-op, plus making extensive improvements in existing lines, Shattuck said.

He further pointed out that as of June 1, the Co-op now serves some 4100 members as compared to 3300 of a year ago.

Cyril J. Glover (third from left) was sworn into office Friday morning by A. C. Mitchell, (right) chancery clerk of Hancock County. Present at the ceremony were Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., commissioner of public utilities (left), and Mayor Warren J. Carver. Held in the office of the Mayor the ceremony was also attended by many friends and relatives of the newly elected commissioner. REGISTRATION OF VOTERS LAGS MUST SIGN BEFORE JUNE 30

Re-registration of voters is lagging, and the new registration will be ended by July 1, 1949, so register now.

The five month period expires July 1, 1949. Persons who have heretofore been qualified voters of Hancock county and who do not re-register prior to July 1, 1949 will, therefore, not be allowed to vote in any election held thereafter, unless they are registered at least one month prior to said election.

Up until this time many persons have not re-registered and it behooves every formally qualified elector to register prior to July 1, 1949. It will be necessary for those who have not re-registered to call at the office of the Clerk of Courts of the County in order to effect their new registration.

We cannot urge upon you how imperative it is that you re-register. If you are a resident and citizen of Bay St. Louis and Waveland you cannot qualify as an elector in either municipality unless you are a registered, qualified voter in the county; and if you do not re-register in the county your qualifications as a voter in the municipalities will be voided.

Remember July 1 is the last day for you to re-register.

Sixty-Four Mississippians To Get Educational Benefits Through Regional Program

University, Miss.—Sixty-four Mississippi students will be selected to receive initial educational benefits under the new southern regional education program, Chancellor J. D. Williams of the University of Mississippi said Tuesday.

Dr. Williams, who attended last week's meeting of the board of control for Southern regional education at Daytona Beach, Fla., said that 48 white students and 16 negroes will enroll in seven out-of-state Southern schools next fall. Selection will be made by the board of trustees of Institutes of Higher Learning.

As authorized by the 1948 Mississippi legislature, the state has already entered into contracts with the schools involved to provide space for the Mississippians named by the board of trustees, Dr. Williams reported.

Under the plan set up by the Daytona Beach meeting, the 11 co-operating Southern states will pay $1500 for each student sent to an out-of-state school. At the present time regional education is offered only in the fields of medicine, dental medicine, and veterinary medicine. The money paid by the states will be used to improve the schools. Students receiving an appointment to one of the schools must pay their own tuition.

Negro schools and their quotas are: Meharry College, Nashville, Tenn.—eight medical students and four dental students; Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee Ala.—four veterinary students.

SCOTT COUNTY EDITOR HEADS MISSISSIPPI PRESS ASSOCIATION

Biloxi—Erle Johnston, Scott County Times, Forest, was elected President of the Mississippi Press Association of its 83rd annual convention at the Buena Vista Hotel, Biloxi. He succeeded J. H. Patton, News Commercial, Co. Inc.

Adoption of a program platform to present to the 1950 session of the Mississippi legislature was a highlight of the three-day session. The platform calls for continued development of the state along industrial, agricultural and educational lines and suggests the creation of a State Port commission to encourage better export-import facilities along the rivers and the Gulf Coast. The platform also carries a recommendation to the legislature that municipalities be given relief from their pressing financial problems.

A record-breaking crowd of 200 attended the convention session which included panel discussions by members of both daily and weekly groups; a seafood jamboree, banquet and fish fry. Gulfport civic groups were hosts at the fish fry. Among those attending the Association's Annual banquet were Governor and Mrs. Fielding L. Wright and daughter Elaine Wright and Lt. Governor Sam Lumpkin.

Publishers of four weeklies received plaques in the Association's annual "General Excellence" contest. They were Lester Williams, Columbian Progress; Morris Meyer, Starkville News; Delmus C. Harden, Itawamba County Times, Fulton; and H. J. Fields, Deer Creek Pilot, Rolling Fork.

Breland Addresses Rotary Club; Lists County School Improvements

E. E. Breland, Hancock County superintendent of public education, was guest speaker at the regular Wednesday luncheon of the Bay Rotary club at Hotel Reed.

Mr. Breland said that in 1947-48, the first years of his administration, the county owned 28 busses and nine cars, and in 1948, 18 8all steel trucks purchased and six additional busses ordered. The cost of transportation for that period, Mr. Breland continued, was $35,031 and the cost of two busses was $5,918 making a total of $40,949. In 1947 white teachers were paid $63,081 while the 1948-49 white teachers salaries amounted to $7,603. Transportation cost $35,031.

Not only did the superintendent speak on the educational needs of the county, but he also included the progress that has been made during the session. In listing the improvements he stated that Leetown school had built two additional classrooms and a modern lunch room; the Sellers high school is also building and equipping a modern lunch room. When he took over the office of county superintendent, he added, Logtown had an antiquated building but they floated bonds and built an up-to-date school. The Kiln Vocational high school now has a new vocational building and teachers' home. The Dedaux and Sellers schools are planning more improvements.

Gambling Device Tax Is Repealed By City Council

Repeal of the Ordinance levying a tax on slot machines and other gaming devices was effected last Friday by a two to one vote of the commission council.

The new ordinance, No. 122, provides for "repealing, cancelling, and setting aside ordinance No. 118, which was adopted Jan. 17, 1949, imposing and levying gambling game as a business for profit, or operating any professional gambling place or establishment."

MAYOR OPPOSES

In opposing the bill, Mayor Warren Carver said the gaming device tax would net the city approximately $9,000 per year, or the equivalent of a three mill direct levy on all taxable property in the municipality. "Abolition of the tax," he said "indirectly places an additional three mill levy on every taxpayer within the municipality."

When reminded that the ordinance levying the tax on the already illegal games and gambling establishments was itself unconstitutional, the Mayor denied having received any settlement from the state attorney general concerning the constitutionality of the law. What knowledge he had of the attorney general's comment he had gained through newspapers, he said.

CONTRARY TO LAW

"In as much as the United States government, the highest echelon on our governmental system, finds it expedient to levy a tax of $100 yearly on each machine, I deemed it expedient that the city taxpayers of the city of Bay St. Louis should derive a tax of $80 yearly or a total of $9,000 yearly from these machines."

When asked by Finance Commissioner Glover whether he had asked for a ruling from the attorney general's office on "such a tax when it is contrary to State and municipal law," the Mayor countered, "It is also contrary to the laws of the United States government."

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Friday the commission council also, by a two to one vote, appointed Dan M. Russell city attorney, at a salary of $100 per month. F. E. "Bill" Witter was appointed by a unanimous vote to succeed Cyril Glover as superintendent of the natural gas division at a salary of $250 per month.

Both appointments are effective as of June 10, 1949. Monday, the commission council employed Francis J. Bopp as city auditor and comptroller at a monthly salary of $100 for a four month period of June to September. Fifty dollars per month will come from the city fund, and $25 from the gas maintenance and operating fund.

Also at the Friday meeting of the council two motions were held in abeyance. One deferred for further study by Cyril Glover, a new member of the council, concerned a plan for equalization of assessments on real and other property. The other was an ordinance providing for registration and vaccination of dogs.

Teen-Club Members Meet Wednesday

Teen-age club night was changed from Saturday to Wednesday night, Joe Burrow, director of the activity, said this week. The members of the club voted last Saturday to make the change. The new date went into effect this week.

The Teen-agers also voted to hold their anniversary dance Monday, June 27, at the Center. The Preston and Robertson band will supply the music.

An amateur show was scheduled for the second Wednesday of July. A committee was appointed to line up the talent and to organize the show. Appointed were Luke Sciana, Charles Carter and Sandra Scatide.

TO COOPERATE IS TO PRODUCE

The word cooperate means to act or operate jointly with another or others; to unite in producing an effect. In order to have cooperation there must be a joint operation or action.

To build our city a cooperative spirit must exist among our officials. There must be a meeting of minds of the officers and of the people they represent with a perfectly coordinated effort on the part of all.

At the time of the election of Mayor Carver it appeared certain that his leadership would make this possible. This was only a passing thought. He allowed himself to be out-manuevered by smooth talking racketeers whose selfish ambitions it is to build their ill-gotten fortunes, in order to be able to further their purposes through their unscrupulous practices of corrupting public officials, charged with the enforcement of the law, by the payment of bribery and graft. These men could be real assets to Bay St. Louis, and could aid much in its development if their efforts were devoted to a righteous cause.

It appears to us that following the election of June 4 the Mayor certainly could not be in doubt as to the wishes of the people. In his own words he said, "Our people have spoken in a loud voice." He asked again that all join hands and work together for the betterment of the community. Sincerity of purpose by action, speaks louder than words. Words often sound nice, but on many occasions are hollow and of no effect.

At the meeting of the commission council held last Friday, following the induction of Commissioner Glover into office, a resolution repealing ordinance 118, which placed a tax of $5.00 per month on slot machines in operation, was introduced and adopted. This resolution was supported by Commissioners Ladner and Glover, and was opposed by the Mayor, whom we understand, raised every technicality to prevent its being rescinded—technicalities, which did not present themselves when the Mayor forced its adoption. At that time he cast an indictment upon his people, and had the audacity to declare that the adoption of the ordinance was an emergency measure, doing so in order to prevent his people from expressing their views in an election on its adoption or rejection.

Apparently the Mayor does not know the meaning of the word, cooperate. Was his statement mere words? He had an opportunity to cooperate with his fellow officers to remove from the records an ordinance the adoption of which we think tore him down from the pinnacle of popularity which he had attained following his election, to the low ebb exemplified in the ignominious defeat suffered at the hands of his people in the election of June 4.

We have bitterly opposed ordinance 118 from the time of its adoption and we shall continue to oppose the operation of slot machines and we hope that Commissioners Ladner and Glover will take definite action, and that they will be joined by the Mayor in an effort to prevent further operation. There can be no cooperation as long as the present conditions exist in our community. If one will only trace the actions of the men engaged in the rackets they will find that their selfish motives have put a stranglehold on many moves for the civic advancement of our city and county. The inner fights for control of the rackets, with the men operating them seeking to destroy one another politically and economically is not a wholesome condition to have existing in our midst.

Mr. Mayor, you still have an opportunity to render your city a service. Will you grasp the opportunity, or follow blindly as you have since you have been in office, the beacon light of a few paltry dollars that reached the city treasury from the coffers of blood money of the racketeers?

Again we say you have an opportunity to display your leadership and render a real service.

What will your answer be?

PROJECTS TO BE PROUD OF

The summer programs for children and youth in Bay St. Louis would do credit to cities many times its size.

Not only are there church and organization sponsored activities here, but the city and the county have both joined in providing trained personnel to supervise special recreational, cultural, and practical projects for the young folk.

Last week Coach Ellis Guillory of Bay St. Louis High school signed up some 70 youngsters who will participate in a well organized, well directed sports program. These children will be trained in various organized and individual sports, will have their bodies built firm and strong, their initiative developed, and will acquire that intangible something called good sportsmanship.

Also last week George Wimberly, director of the band at Bay High, registered some 33 musicians, young and old, who are soon to supply the city with lilting melodies, rousing marches, a fair portion of corn, a bit of the classics, and, perhaps, some bop. Formation of various musical groups is included in the plan, and there will be entertainment for all, beginning with a concert Sunday afternoon.

Also at Bay High Mrs. Ernest Erwin, the home economics teacher, has inaugurated summer sewing sessions. On last observation, several young ladies were piecing together pairs of the bright little shorts so abundant here during the summer months. blouses, skirts, pajamas, slacks, and many other garments will be produced under expert guidance.

The Bay St. Louis Youth Center provides weekly entertainment and amusement for a large portion of our youthful population, and is, indeed, the nucleus of an activity which is fast growing into a full-fledged club or lodge for the youngsters of the community.

The city and county have seen fit to retain some of the public school teachers on the payroll during the summer to direct and supervise these helpful and useful programs.

The suggestion is ventured that many another community, large or small, would receive inestimable returns from proportional investments in similar projects.

SEVEN EDUCATORS ATTEND WORKSHOP

Seven ladies from Hancock county are attending a five-week educational workshop which opened Monday, June 6, at Gulfport, according to E. E. Breland, county superintendent of education.

They are: Mrs. Celine Ashcraft, Mrs. John Zingaling, and Miss Lavinia Sauger of Bay High; Mrs. Claiborne Ladner of the Webb School; Misses Mary Margaret and Cecelia Turcotte of Waveland; and Mrs. S. J. Ingram of Clermont Harbor.

Sponsored by Mississippi Southern college, the workshop is open to all teachers and to anyone having received a high school diploma. Those interested may attend as many as three of the workshops and get resident credit for work done. Breland said. After three workshops, however, no credit is given; rather, it is considered extension work, he added.

Courses are offered in the following fields: art, music, history, political science, health, mathematics, English, and various phases of education including educational and child psychology.

Hang on to Savings Bonds until they mature. The last five years pay best.

To The Editor,

This letter is for the purpose of informing the public of Bay St. Louis and vicinity why this community will not be represented by a baseball team in the Junior American Legion baseball league. I have been subjected to quite a bit of adverse criticism for my "failure" to develop a team.

To begin with, I think I should let the public know who were the Public Spirited individuals who furnished the funds that took care of the little 1949 team which made such a splendid showing its first year in that branch of sports. They were: Messrs. Harry Sumrall, Walter Gex, Jr., Vincent Morreale, Anthony Pitato, Gerald Price, Emilio (Dick) Cue, Harold Weston, Ed Ortte, Bernard Blaize, Roger Heitzmann, Robert Camors and Howard LeTissier. I gave my time free of charges and Mr. Morreale, besides his financial contribution, helped to coach the team and donated the use of his field. All of us would have been glad to do the same for the 1949 outfit had I been able with Mr. Morreale's help to get the boys together.

For various reasons, we were unable to get started with the kids until late May; five of our most valuable players were ineligible due to the age limit; a couple more upon whom we depended for the nucleus of the team, did not care to play American Legion ball this year. We had a total of 17 boys who reported and out of that number, several secured jobs that would not permit them to play regularly while others absented themselves from practice for reasons of their own which left us only seven or eight boys who reported faithfully and worked hard. We are very sorry for those few faithful ones, but under existing conditions it was virtually impossible to continue our efforts to put in the field a team that would justify the support of the generous sponsors, to say nothing of the daily work of Mr. Morreale and me. It is a bitter pill to me, but I feel I have no apology to offer.

Walter Gex, Jr., Named To Seafood Commission

Mr. Gex will represent Hancock county on the commission which has full jurisdiction over all oyster reefs, shrimping, and salt water fishing in Mississippi waters. Gex served in a similar capacity during the administration of Governor Hugh L. White.

Mr. Gex will serve until Sept. 1, 1950. He succeeds Harold Weston who resigned.

U. S. Savings Bond Drive To Continue Through June 30

A colorful feature of the U. S. Savings Bonds Opportunity Drive, which began May 18, and runs through June 30, will be the display of an attractive red, white and blue quota map of the United States, displayed on Pennsylvania Avenue in downtown Washington, D. C. The map will be 36 feet long and 18 feet high. It will reflect the progress of each state toward achievement of quota assigned, and will be changed weekly. This is our opportunity to let the nation know that Mississippians are still behind those things that are worthwhile.

Mr. Rex I. Brown, State Chairman of the Savings Bonds Division for Mississippi, urges everyone who can possibly do so to buy his share of "E" Savings Bonds now.

NEHI BOTTLING CO.
GULFPORT, MISS.Vets' Families Receive Benefits Under New Social Security Act

Social security protection was given to veterans of World War II by legislation which the President signed on August 10, 1946.

If a veteran served 90 days or more during the war, and was honorably discharged, he is considered to be "fully insured" under the Social Security act, if he dies within three years after his discharge.

Payments will be calculated as though the veteran had an average monthly wage of $160. This actually works out to something over $56 a month if the veteran leaves a widow and two children.

This applies to all veterans who qualify, even if they have never worked under social security. There is one exception. Since this special payment is based on military service, no payment will be made under this new part of the Social Security act if the veteran's dependents get a veteran's pension from the Veterans' administration, since such payments are also based on military service.

This is the fifth in a series of articles on "Your Social Security." In the next issue we shall discuss, "Your Social Security—After Benefits Begin."

For further information consult your local Social Security administration field office.

Miss. Economic Council Urges Continued Support Of Organization

Gulfport—(Special)—Members of the Hancock County membership committee of the Mississippi Economic Council, meeting with other membership committees from adjacent counties at the Markham Hotel here, were urged by state leaders of the Council to get behind the new organizations and secure additional members in the county who will support the new organization and help make its programs and prospects effective.

The Mississippi Economic Council was organized in Jackson last December by a group of business and civic leaders from throughout the state who felt that such an organization is necessary. The principal aim of the Council is to promote and advance the social, civic and economic welfare of the people of all sections of Mississippi. It will function like a chamber of commerce on a statewide basis.

In the meeting state MEC leaders declared that the Council has a constructive program for the development of both natural and human resources. They forecast that when the local leadership of every community in the state is organized and has a part in the program of the Council, statewide problems will be solved in a sound way. They said "We can expect to have a better and more prosperous state in which to live and better opportunities for our children to develop in the 'American Way of Life.'"

Members of the Hancock County committee are: Chairman, Octave W. Delph, owner, Mauffray-Dry Goods, Bay St. Louis; Vice-Chairman, Howard W. LeTissier, Owner, Reed Hotel, Bay St. Louis; Committeemen: Joe B. Burrow, Cashier, Merchants Bank & Trust Company, Bay St. Louis; Homer Gregory, Local Manager, Mississippi Power Company; J. J. Kelleher, retired Vice-President, United Fruit Company; Horace Kergosion, Partner, Kergosion Brothers Real Estate; Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Clubwoman; Earl Ramond, Owner, Earl Ramond Electric Company; Dr. B. L. Ramsey, Owner, Ramsey Department Store; T. T. Robin, Owner, Globe Laundry; and Leo W. Seal, President, Hancock Bank; all of Bay St. Louis.

During the next few weeks, county representatives of the Council will invite many private citizens as well as business firms, associations and chambers of commerce to join.

Attractive booklets setting forth the objectives and aims of the MEC are available to interested persons. They can be obtained by contacting a member of the county committee or by writing direct to the Mississippi Economic Council, Robert E. Lee Hotel, Jackson.

Fescue Better Than Oats For Grazing, Group Told

Gentlemen, we have with us Mr. George Spears, who is one of our cooperators in the northern end of the District. Mr. Spears is a good farmer. Mr. Spears, we would like to hear from you as to what you think about the Soil Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service.

Mr. George Spears: "I think a whole lot of help and information and experience can be gotten from a man like Mr. Bishop here. In fact, I know it can. You can't ask him a question but what he gives you an answer. Before I get to telling you about our plan I would like to state that we have a trial planting of Fescue on my farm. You know with the farmers anything that is doing good and making good is contagious—it spreads. If I have good luck with my trial, which I am, everybody wants to try it. I would like to state that Mr. Bishop worked up a farm plan with me on my farm probably the first year of the Soil Conservation District. All land to be tilled has been tilled and all practices have been put into effect as planned.

I had some twenty acres of wet, cold natured land that had previously been seeded to Lespedeza with a fairly good stand of carpet grass and was getting some grazing on this area. Mr. Bishop came to me and asked if I would be willing to plant a trial planting of Kentucky Fescue 31 on five acres of this kind of land. The land was fairly well prepared and well fertilized with 5-10-5 fertilizer at the rates of about 6000 pounds to the acres on this carpet grass sod. It had been slugged the year before; some of it was planted in rows and some broadcast. On the broadcast area I spread some chicken fertilizer and got better results last summer. I got a few seed off of that acre I spread chicken fertilizer on but none off of the other, but this Fescue afforded good grazing from the time these seeds were combined until now. This year I planted five acres more and the land was prepared better this year and I have a better stand, sown broadcast and it looks real good to me. I plan to put in additional acreage next year. Before this new grass came in I was getting very little grazing off of carpet grass and Lespedeza. Now I am almost positive that my pasture is worth $30.00 or $40.00 per acre. The cost of seeding is over. All I need to do is fertilize it.

I, too, like Mr. Rester have built a fish pond, planted pines and some Kudzu. There is one thing that I would like to bring out in favor of Fescue over oats for grazing and I have both—Fescue holds the cows up on the ground and the Oats let them bog down. The Oats won't do well on wet, cold natured land but the Fescue will. Believe you me, Mr. Bishop makes you fertilize it and it costs money."

Mr. Rester: "We have with us Mr. Ford Smith, who is one of our cooperators and a Commissioner. We would like to hear from you, Ford, at this time.

Mr. Ford Smith: "Well, I got a farm plan worked out on my farm and put each acre into its correct use. A man came by my place first and checked the different types of soil and slopes and everything. Then Mr. Bishop came out and worked out a plan with me. This map was all colored and when Mr. Bishop explained it to me I knew what type of soil I had and what it was best suited for. Mr. Bishop and I walked the farm and planned it. At this time I was row cropping—working my head off and couldn't raise enough feed for my cows. I had a silo, trying to grow stuff to put in silage. This was producing a moderate amount of milk but creating a lot of work. Mr. Bishop began to talk pastures. I wanted pastures but was discouraged because I had tried before and failed. One morning Mr. Bishop came by my house and asked me to go on a tour with him. I almost refused but went. We went to Waltham County and we set on fire for permanent pasture. Frank Shaw, Arthur Shaw, Lucien Hoda and other farmers went and were all interested and glad we made the trip. We saw White Dutch Clover and Dallas Grass—really pretty—I didn't dream it would grow that far south. I had seen it before but up north. I believe we saw 10 farms that day. We saw some Kudzu. Everybody was saying they were going to enlarge their pasture—one man was going from 3 to 30 acres the next year. This was enough to convince me that I just had to grow some pastures and that I had not been doing it right. I had not been using the right fertilizer on the right land. Frank Shaw and I came home and agreed that we would grow pastures as good as we saw even if we had to haul water for it. We started but with Mr. Bishop's advice. The first year I planted ten acres in pasture consisting of White Dutch Clover, Bermuda Grass and Lespedeza. I have planted about 24 more acres and intend to plant some more next year. I have bought some more land and I am using my row crop land in pastures. This year for the first time, I planted 5 acres of Bahai Grass in which I have planted some White Dutch Clover. I have 4 acres of Kudzu with Wild Winter Peas in it. I went from row crops to dairying. The first year that I was dairying without my pasture, I estimate that I barely made a living. I think if books had been kept very close you could say I went in debt. I really worked harder than I ever worked in my life. This year with my permanent pasture my milk production has more than doubled. I am making some money. In addition to the grazing I got from the White Dutch Clover I harvested 400 pounds of seed from my clover which has gone a long way toward paying the bills for establishing the pasture. I expect to get more seed from it each year in addition to grazing. In fact, next year I expect to get some $1500.00 worth more seed from my White Dutch Clover. In all the years that I row cropped I have never made $1500.00 from row crops.

This is the second in a series of five reports, on soil conservation presented by men of the County who have put into use conservation practices prepared by James L. Bishop.

Congressional Sidelights

by Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

POLL TAX REPEAL

The battle between the President and the Congress continues unabated. Having failed in the House to repeal the Taft-Hartley bill, the Administration turned to the Senate, and for the past week that body has been debating this most controversial issue. The best guess now is that that body will pass a new labor law. But it will not be to the liking of the big union leaders, and will fall far short of the President's promise of outright repeal.

Meanwhile, the Administration suffered at least a temporary defeat in the House last week when a subcommittee of the House Administration committee, voted, four to three to defer indefinitely the bills before that committee to repeal the poll tax by Congressional edict. Because of the political appeal of this proposed legislation to both Northern Democrats and Republicans, the Administration may succeed in having this action of the subcommittee reversed in the full committee, and bring the bill eventually to the floor where for the same reason, it would pass by an overwhelming vote. However, before it can get to the floor it must also clear the House Rules committee, of which we are a member. But again, under the liberalization of the rules of the House, put through early in the session, with this very thing in view, that committee can only temporarily delay consideration.

However, those of us who have opposed and are opposing that type of legislation, which is one of the President's civil rights provisions, are doing everything within our power to delay action by the House. This, with the strategy, of course, in mind, that the lower House action is delayed, the less filibustering will have to be done in the Senate. As chairman of the Southern group in the House set up to oppose the Civil Rights Program, we arranged for a large number of Southern members to appear before the subcommittee and make statements in opposition to the proposed legislation. We also appeared in person.

We pointed out to the committee that: (1) Such legislation is unconstitutional. (2) It is purely a political football being used by Northern politicians to appeal to the Negroes and left-wing group for votes. (3) It is sponsored by reformers, politicians, "do gooders" and Communists, who are always trying to bring about dissension and chaos. (4) If these people were sincerely interested in the repeal of the poll tax the best way to get it repealed was for outside meddlers to quit antagonizing those Southern states which still have the poll tax.

We also pointed out that we had no brief for the poll tax as such, but that if it were to be repealed it should be repealed by the state legislatures. That it is entirely an internal matter for the people of the several states to decide. Furthermore, that it was an invasion of state's rights and was not another step in bringing about a strong centralized government in Washington at the expense of local self-government. We emphasized further that every time the Federal government moved into the field of state's rights the citizens, whom these Reformers professed to protect, only lost additional liberties. The stronger the Federal government was made, the more local and state governments suffered, until finally these so-called reforms could result in only one thing, the loss of the freedom and rights of the people to govern themselves. If the Congress can legally enact constitutionally pass legislation providing that a state cannot have a poll tax requirement for the exercise for the franchise, then the Congress can also legally pass legislation prescribing what, if any qualifications, a voter should have. This, of course, would result in Federal control, in the end, of all of our local, state and national elections.
